Weaving Hope in Morocco's High Atlas Mountains

🕒 3d ago | Source: High Atlas Foundation

The High Atlas Foundation is assisting Moroccan women as they launch something remarkable of their own. These women are master artisans who crochet beautiful winter clothing (gloves, hats, and scarves) spending countless hours creating pieces for their families and communities. Yet, they have never been paid for this work.

HAF is changing that.

Turning Winter into Opportunity

We're investing in four women-run cooperatives that will produce winter clothing for schoolchildren throughout rural Morocco. The impact multiples:

- Women earn income for skills they already have
- Children receive winter clothing that makes school attendance possible
- Girls witness women as business owners, not just isolated workers

This isn't charity...it's investment in entrepreneurs waiting for their first real customers.

In the coming months, stay tuned to hear stories from these women and the impact their leadership is creating in their communities.

What $12 Can Build

A $12 contribution purchases a set of winter clothing (gloves, hat, & scarf) from a rural cooperative and places it in the hands of a child who needs it. But that money does more: it tells a woman her work has value. It helps a girl attend school through winter. It proves economic independence is possible.

This winter has been even harder and longer than years past, so your contributions matter most now.

Twelve dollars funds warmth, dignity, and opportunity.

As International Women's Day approaches (March 8), we can bridge the gap between global rhetoric and local reality. Your contribution helps transform skilled artisans into business owners and invisible labor into recognized value.

Give women the warmth to survive this winter and the tools to rewrite every winter that follows.
